DEDICATION

This 1950 Issue of the Historical Catalogue of Brown University is dedicated to 177 former students of the University who lost their lives in World War II. It is fitting that their names should have a place of special honor in this record.

On the day of Brown's 178th Commencement, the President of the University was the speaker at the War Memorial and Recognition Service to which the Annual Meeting of the Associated Alumni was devoted. He said:

I speak today with one purpose only—to voice a tribute to those alumni of Brown University who laid down their lives in the war. Most of them were young; some of them very young; some had not even completed the work for their baccalaureate degree.

That fact poses the most critical question I know with regard to the validity of a liberal education.

Whenever I think on the subject, one acid test comes to my mind: suppose that on the very morrow of his graduation the student were to lose his life; would his education have been wasted? The answer is as simple and as plain as any answer could be: if education is preparation, it has been lost; but if education is real and significant as an experience, it has not been lost. Of all educational experience only that of a liberal education is dependent upon no exterior circumstances for its validity.

Liberal education is growth; it is life itself. In the death of these men at untimely ages, the world is indeed impoverished, but, because they had the experience of life in this ancient University, they had been enriched and the quality of their service and sacrifice was enlarged and ennobled.

As we remember these alumni with affection and respect, let us think of them in connection with the life of our nation, and determine so to influence the policies of our beloved country that it shall profit by their sacrifice.

Let us remember them also in connection with this University, and resolve that in all its procedures and all its plans and all its activities Brown will supply to their younger brothers and to all their successors that inspiration and instruction which makes even a brief life more intense, more real, and more meaningful.

BY WAY OF INTRODUCTION

THIS, THE 1950 EDITION of the Historical Catalogue of Brown University, is the first since 1934. With each intervening graduation the need for another volume has grown, as well as the problem of producing it. Two years ago, after the war interval of violence and disruption, the planning was resumed in earnest, with subsequent editorial activity. Throughout that period the project has been urged on by ambitious desires and held back by realistic considerations.

Not one book but hundreds could be filled with the material available about the sons and daughters of Brown. Much is already in print, in the five decennial volumes of the Historical Catalogue from 1894 to 1934 and elsewhere. Other information is newly at hand, from more than 70% of our mailing list, which they tell us in other colleges is a magnificent response. We are grateful for such co-operation and wish we might incorporate all the data thus provided. Abridged as it is, this document is still a considerable one. Although the emphasis is upon the living, we recognize the fact that Brown has been in the "community" since 1764, preserving therein a succession of men duly "qualify'd" to discharge the offices of life with usefulness and reputation.

It would be impressive to give a full report on each Brunonian career. (Sometime its writing must begin, and the 200th anniversary of the University in 1964 may well invite it.) It would be in order to note every public service our Brunonian has performed, every scientific paper or poem he has published, every battle he has fought, every business or professional achievement, his lineage, every act of loyalty to the University, and his total contribution to knowledge, culture, and welfare. This is not such a comprehensive record. Indeed, admittedly and advisedly, this 1950 Edition bears the scars of compromise.

Some of our sister institutions, addressing themselves to the same task, have regarded it as impossible for the present; a few have undertaken no more than a directory of names and addresses. With us, the need for this book was so great that it outweighed all other arguments. Our regret is at the delay in the final phase of publication.

Within manageable, feasible limits, this is a generous book. No Brunonian is knowingly unnamed. There is information about each or reference to where that information already appears in print. For each person who has ever matriculated at Brown there is an entry, as well as entries for those who have provided the education through their services. (We do not include those who took only courses in the Extension Division or those courses offered during World War II under the Engineering, Science, and Management War Training program. The University has files of these individuals, of course, and legitimate resort to them is possible.)

One of the first compromises which will be apparent is the fact that our active record in this book begins with the Class of 1878. Earlier than that there are no living alumni. Such entries as there are prior to the Class of 1878 merely complete the record of those earlier Classes. Otherwise you are referred to the 1934 volume.

One should then regard this as a supplement, though an ample one, to earlier volumes of the Historical Catalogue*, but it has integrated material of its own, much of it published for the first time. The first composite roster of new Classes since 1934 appears here; so does the first geographical break-down printed in modern times. Our information, where provided by the individual, has that personal sanction; where there was no direct response to our inquiry for this project, we have studied other source material at the University, notably the files of the Alumni Office.

A volume like this must inevitably be out of date before it is off the press. Many address changes, for example, were received and made on the alumni records which could not be reflected in the pages of the Historical Catalogue. The information here should be looked upon as of July 31, 1950. Some pages of supplement, however, bring us down to the close of that calendar year in certain respects.

While some data will thus be out of date, there will be other inaccuracy to dismay even the most painstaking worker in a job of this scope. If you discover error and omission, please call it to our attention. The Historical Catalogue Office especially solicits word about those individuals for whom no address appears in this volume, to the end that we may restore contact with them. The appropriate offices at Brown and Class Secretaries will share in such discovery.

Since the information regarding service in World War II was voluntary, it is known to be quite incomplete. Most military grades will be seen to apply to World War II, especially where civilian occupations are given as current. There has been some attempt to note civilian war service as well.

Attention is called to the introductory section on "How to Use This Book." Here the extensive use of abbreviation and other matters are explained. We believe the reader will easily accustom himself to the minimum use of punctuation, which permitted appreciable saving in space and cost herein.

Professor Bronson's "History of Brown University, 1764-1914" is still a standard reference work and contains bibliographies for that period. There are later volumes to which one may also profitably turn, with the Archives of the University a further active warehouse of facts. The staffs of the University Library, the Alumni Office, and the Alumnae Office are ready to assist those who inquire about Brown history and personalia. It should be noted that the Historical Catalogue does not attempt to duplicate the timely intelligence given in such annuals as the General Catalogues of Brown University, Pembroke College, or the Graduate School.

The death of Dean Roland G. D. Richardson in 1949 was a great loss not only to Brown and the world but to the Historical Catalogue. He had made the basic studies, set the fundamental pattern, and begun the actual preparation as Editor in charge. He had been assisted by a committee headed by Provost Samuel T. Arnold and composed of Archivist W. Easton Louttit, Jr.; Vice-Presidents Bruce M. Bigelow, F. Morris Cochran, and Thomas B. Appleget; Deans Robert W. Kenny, Nancy Duke Lewis, and Barnaby C. Keeney; Prof. William T. Hastings, 1934 Editor; William B. McCormick, Alumni Secretary; Gertrude Allen McConnell, Alumnae Secretary; W. Chesley Worthington, Editor of the Brown Alumni Monthly; Records Gilbert E. Case, William A. Jewett, and Dorothy S. Horton; Mildred E. Carlen, Registrar of the Graduate School; Lestor L. Lapham, Bursar; D. Francis Finn, Purchasing Agent; and Carroll Rikert, Jr., Controller of Accounts. Mr. Worthington assumed the duties of Dr. Richardson as Editor, after the latter's death.

The compilation of material was in the hands of a staff under Sarah A. D'Atri, which included Maude E. C. Covell, Alice B. Duckworth, Jane L. Gifford, Shirley Whipple Hinds, Rita M. Hines, and Helen L. Urquhart. Too much cannot be said in appreciation of their efficient loyalty. Others who assisted in the editorial preparation, often beyond the normal requirements of their University duties, were: Dorothy L. Blanchard, Marion E. Brown, Virginia Bugbee, Barbara Colwell, Carmela Giocastro, Christine D. Hathaway, Helen G. Hendricks, Grace A. McAusland, Bernice Ormsbee, Hope A. Palmer, Ruth E. Patridge, Ruth E. Sandborn, and Barbara Tripp, as well as some members of the committee. The advice of Richard H. Sherwin and the patient cooperation of all at the Vermont Printing Company must also be acknowledged gratefully.

HOW TO USE THIS BOOK

THE FIRST CLUES which the reader should seek in his quest for information lie in the Table of Contents (at the beginning of this volume) and the Alphabetical Index (at the end). The Table of Contents suggests the compass of this work and the sequence of its elements. The Alphabetical Index gives references for all who have ever been connected with the government, teaching or administrative staff, or student body of Brown University from 1764 to 1950, and those it has honored with special affiliation.

It will bear repetition that some references are to the 1934 Edition of the Historical Catalogue. The Class Lists begin with 1878, the earliest in which there were living alumni in 1950; the Faculty roll includes only those who have served at some time since 1934; and there are other omissions of earlier persons. But the Alphabetical Index is comprehensive of all names in this and earlier Editions of the Historical Catalogue.

Particular attention is called to the explanation of symbols and abbreviations used in this book. The key to these is the concluding section of this introduction.

For consistency's sake we have arbitrarily made all variant abbreviations of a degree conform to our own usage, without regard to the custom at the institution which granted it. For example, although another college may use BS for Bachelor of Science, we have standardized all such abbreviations as ScB.

All alphabetizing follows strict alphabetical order.

Corporation: The officers and other members of the Corporation are listed for the whole period of the history of the University, together with their periods of service.

Officers of Administration: Here are listed Presidents, Provost, Vice-Presidents, Deans, Librarians, Registrars, Secretaries, Chaplains, and other officers who served the University during its 186 years.

Faculty: In the Faculty List only those persons serving since 1934 are included. Reference should be made to the 1934 Edition for information regarding earlier members. In the biographies, degrees listed are those held at the time of Brown service and appear in chronological order—a Brown degree being understood unless another institution is named. No data on careers prior or subsequent to the period of teaching at Brown are included in this section. The Faculty List contains the names of those persons of professorial rank, instructors, lecturers, and research associates. For those assistants who have also been students, information is contained in their biographies as students (either undergraduate or graduate). There is a special section with a list of assistants in instruction, research, and administration who have not been registered as graduate students.

Class Lists: In the biographies of living alumni and alumnae given in the section covering the Classes since 1878, an attempt is made to include the degree or degrees conferred at Brown and elsewhere, fraternity affiliation, honor fraternities, title, name of firm or professional connection, nature of work, a reference to war service in World War II, and present address.

Only one address is listed, and this is the “preferred” one furnished by the person. It may be either the home or the office address.

The principal information regarding students is given in the Class Lists of the College, Pembroke, and Graduate School. The listing is with the Class of the individual's choice. If the year in which the degree was conferred is different from the Class affiliation, the latter preference governs the entry. In such cases, the year of the award is indicated after the degree. In the event that a person's name occurs in several lists (undergraduate, graduate, honorary, Faculty, Corporation), the earliest entry chronologically contains the more extensive biography. Graduate and non-graduate members and special students are grouped alphabetically within one Class listing, with appropriate designation but without segregation. Where there are entries under Class headings earlier than 1878, these are necrological only, supplementing information about those listed as living in the 1934 Volume. (A few errors in earlier Editions are noted on Page 44.) In the case of persons in Classes 1878 to 1933 who were deceased before the 1934 Edition was compiled, the present entry gives only the name, Brown degrees, and years of birth and death. For those in the Classes 1878-1949 deceased subsequent to the 1934 volume, there is the brief biography with years of birth and death added. In the Classes 1950-1953 only names and home addresses are given (and such degrees as were received in 1950).

Married Women: The Class Lists of Pembroke carry the name which was the student's at the time of her matriculation. If she was married then, the entry is under her married name. If she was married subsequently, the entry is under her maiden name, with the married name following in parentheses. The alphabetical index carries both forms of name, the geographical index only the current one. In general the same pattern is followed for married women who attended the Graduate School. In the cases of married women who are on the Faculty rolls, both forms of the name are carried if they use their maiden names professionally.

Bachelor of Education: Persons who received this degree or took work in Education during the period when this degree was offered are listed alphabetically with their present addresses.

Pre-Meteorological Students: Members of the special Army Air Force units at Brown during World War II are given separate listing, together with their present addresses, if known, or home addresses at the time of their studies at Brown.

Veterans' College: As a service to post-war education, the University set up a separate Veterans' College into which were admitted promising veterans who could not meet fully the specific entrance requirements. Of the total of 1004 students admitted to the Veterans' College, 664 were later admitted to the regular curriculum. Only the names and home addresses of the 340 who did not transfer to the regular student body are given under this heading.

Graduate Students: Those who took degrees in any year (1888-1949) are listed together. In a following section there is an alphabetical list of students who finished satisfactorily a minimum of one semester course but did not proceed to a degree. There is also a list of graduate students registered in the first semester of 1949-1950 whose names are not otherwise included.

Recipients of Honorary Degrees: This list is limited to those upon whom honorary degrees were conferred subsequent to the 1934 issue of the Catalogue, together with an indication of the degree.

Geographical Index: This contains the names of living alumni and alumnae. Except for the United States and its dependencies and Canada, all of which come first, the Geographical List is arranged alphabetically by countries. It is sub-divided by State or Province and city or town for the United States and Canada, and by city or town for other countries.

We have not included in the geographical index those in the following categories: 1. Members of the Faculty, since their residence in the Providence area is understood. 2. Holders of honorary degrees. 3. Members of the Classes of 1950-1953. 4. Former students in the Veterans' College and members of the Army units of World War II, since they were without undergraduate status.

Alphabetical Index: This comprehensive listing includes all persons who have been connected with the staff or student body from the beginning in 1764. For married women there is a reference for the individuals under both the maiden and married names. Where men have changed their names, both forms appear in this index. This entry is the only one in the volume for the following classes of persons: 1. Men in the College Classes before 1878, all being now deceased. 2. Faculty and Administrative Assistants who served no later than 1934. 3. Honorary degree recipients not later than 1934. 4. Graduates of the Medical School (1816-1829). For biographies of the persons in these four groups, the issues of 1934 and earlier may be consulted. These individuals are indicated by appropriate keys, explained at the head of that section.

SYMBOLS AND ABBREVIATIONS

TO ACCOMMODATE the amount of information which this issue of the Historical Catalogue of Brown University encompasses, it has been necessary to resort to a large number of symbols and abbreviations. The reader, we believe, will encounter little difficulty in interpreting the information, particularly if he will refer to the following key :

Trustees

The Trustees number 42. Alumni Trustees, 14 in number, are elected under an agreement between the Corporation and Associated Alumni which calls for a general alumni ballot to nominate two graduates each year. The current agreement, dating from 1942, provides that resignation of Alumni Trustees shall be effective after seven years' service. The first Alumni Trustee was elected in 1915. Symbol: al t.

*The other Trustees, elected by the Corporation on its own initiative, were originally expected to serve until death or resignation. However, those elected since 1944, designated as Term Trustees, are seated with the understanding that their resignations will take effect in seven years. Those elected before 1944 are spoken of as Life Trustees. In the following lists of the Corporation it should be presumed that the member was elected for life unless other-

OFFICERS OF INSTRUCTION

Full-Time Faculty

Those who have been full-time members of the Brown Faculty are here listed alphabetically (not according to status). The roster includes full professors, associate professors, assistant professors, lecturers, research associates, and instructors, together with professors emeriti. For convenience of listing, part-time instructors are also included here; however, assistants, research assistants, and teaching fellows are named at the end of the section under separate headings. Only the highest academic appointment at Brown is noted in each case.

Honorary degrees, including ad eundem degrees from Brown, appear here without special identification, but separate records of these are to be found elsewhere in this book.

We omit those who had ceased to be members of the Faculty before the 1934 Historical Catalogue was issued. It will be observed that for those no longer at Brown subsequent degrees or positions are not recorded.

BROWN John. Recipient of honorary AM in 1773 was John Brown, clergyman of Kettering Northampton, England—not John Brown, merchant of Providence.
Latter did not receive a degree at this time.

FAUNCE William Herbert Perry. Date of AM from Brown was 1889, of honorary LLD from University of Alabama was 1906.

HOLDEN Isaac Erving AB. PhBK 1832.

JACKSON George W, non-grad 1824, Providence broker, was proprietor of the Providence Journal 1836-38 and was US Marshal during Taylor and Fillmore Administrations. He was a son of the Hon.

Richard Jackson, Trustee of Brown University 1809-38.

KENT Charles Foster was asso prof bibl lit

PEIRCE John declined election as Trustee, did not serve 1894-95.

SHEPARDSON Francis Wayland 1883 received LLD from Denison in 1906. He was editor of Beta Theta Pi Quarterly, 11th, 12th and 13th editions of "Baird's
Manual of American College Fraternities" and author of "Centennial History of Denison University" 1931. These achievements were incorrectly attributed to his cousin, fraternity brother, and classmate Frank Lucius Shepardson.

SHEPARDSON Frank Lucius (see above).

WOOD Clarence David served as instr Eng at Brown 1898-1901, not asst.
